Oud Oefenplein

Our Inhabitants

The 'Oud Oefenplein' is an existing social housing site in the north of Mechelen. It consists of 458 houses and flats for 1593 inhabitants, stemming from mixed income groups. The site includes a community service centre as well as a Hoppin mobility hub.

Shared Mobility

Residents will have access to (electric) car sharing, (electric) bike sharing, electric scooter sharing, public transport and affordable mobility solutions for people with a disability. Inhabitants will also have access to high-quality bike parking and nearby parcel lockers.

Mobility Plan

A tailored communication and participation concept will be developed. Personal guidance from a community worker with expertise in shared mobility is foreseen to facilitate the transition to shared mobility solutions. There will be reduced tariffs as well.
